Agri Dept. Offers New Opportunities

Despite the snowy weather Sunday the Promise Land Baptist Church had regular preaching services. The pastor delivered a challenging message. Special music was rendered by the church choir. At the close of the offering period a special Christmas purse was presented the pastor on behalf of the members of the church by Mrs. Thelma Hancock. Several visitors attended the service.

All officers, and members of the Galilee Baptist Church are asked to attend the annual church meeting this Saturday evening January 3, at 7 p.m. The annual program of work will be presented by the pastor and officers. All members are asked to be prepared to make their annual report.

The patrons of the Carver Price High School are reminded of the opportunities offered in the Agricultural department each Tuesday and Thursday evening from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The shop facilities are available for all who come to build, remodel and overhaul any farm or household equipment or appliance that they desire. The instruction is under the direction of the Agriculture teacher and Mr. Anderson Haskins will render assistance on any job. This is your opportunity. Please come and take advantage of it.

Mrs. Letha Moss is a patient in the Lynchburg General Hospital.

Miss Pamita Lawing of Harrisburg, Pa. spent part of the Christmas holiday here with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bigger of York, Pa. spent part of the holiday here with relatives and friends.

Mr. McKinley Tibbs of Baltimore spent part of the holiday here as the guest of his daughter and his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Lewis and family spent part of the Christmas holiday in Roanoke as the guests of friends.

The general public is cordially invited to attend the regular preaching services at the Galilee Baptist Church this Sunday morning at 11 a.m. The pastor will deliver a special New Years sermon and special music will be rendered by the church choirs.

Local NAACP For Immediate Desegregation

Submitted by R. Q. Lawson

The local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has applauded the recent decision that has been handed down by the supreme court. The court's decision had declared unconstitutional the law that for so many years deprived members of the minority races of the education that is so vital for survival in these times. The court further stated in it's decision that the law must be implemented immediately.

Any time that a lawlessness has become as American as apple pie it is imperative that all individuals and groups give to our law enforcement officers all of the support necessary to enforce the law. Law and Order have become household words and if these words are to have meaning all citizens must be more law abiding and receptive to the law regardless of the consequences to any individual or a particular segment of the people.

If the County, State and Nation is ever going to become united all citizens must forget about the past and look ahead to the future. A Nation which does not pool all of it's resources is a divided Nation and it can not survive. It has been proven that of the last two great national wars, we have fallen from power, nineteen of them have fallen from internal strife. America is going to remain the great nation that it is law and order can no longer be a cliche by which only groups are so-called "put in their place", but as a means by which all citizens are granted their rights and protection as provided by the constitution.

In a recent letter to the school board and HEW in Washington, D. C., I have been advised that because of the time that has elapsed since the 1954 Supreme Courts decision, the progress that is being made by the other counties that have recently integrated, and the recent decision that has been rendered by the supreme court, we find it impossible, and impractical to support a plan of integration that would call for a delay in the implementation of the law of the land.

$142 Raised For Squad

First lieutenant Pete Doss (left) and Captain Jack Williams standing next, representing the Appomattox Rescue Squad accepted a check for $142 presented by Leota Vaughan and Opal Faulette (right). They raised this amount selling chances on a home made cake. The money came from workers at Appomattox Garment Sewing Plant and Appomattox Garment Finishing plant. They want to thank both plants for helping them to make the fund raising a success. Leota and Opal are owners and operators of the V & P Cafeteria which is located in the sewing and finishing plants.

Safety-Service Patrol On Duty

The Safety - Service Patrol of the Virginia Department of Highways will be on duty 124 hours over the year - end holidays to assist stranded motorists on 190 miles of the state's interstate system.

Four separate periods will see 13 pickup trucks with special equipment in operation. They will bear signs indicating their part in the patrol.

Maintenance Engineer John W. Gray, Jr., who directs the patrol, said the program is designed to help motorists obtain whatever assistance is needed to resume their travels.

The third period of patrol operations will begin at 7 a.m. December 31 to 7 a.m. Jan. 1; and the fourth from 5 p.m. Jan. 3 to 7 a.m. Jan. 5.

During Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day and Thanksgiving holidays this year, the patrol aided more than 1,250 motorists. Most of the help was in response to motor or tire trouble, empty gasoline tanks or mechanical trouble requiring wrecker service.

"The South 40"

by JAMES A SMITH EXTENSION AGENT

Just before Christmas I received my first 1970 seed catalog -- others will follow.

There are several new all-American selections that you'll want to take a look at. Small Fry is a hybrid Cherry tomato. It is resistant to two of the wilts.

Bolero is a dwarf marigold. It is double hi-colored with red and gold flowers. It's uniform in size -- about 12 inches high and 18 inches wide.

Madam Butterfly is a hybrid snapdragon that comes in four colors. Each floret has a cluster of petals in the center which gives an azalea - flowered effect.

China Doll is a double dianthus. It blooms freely and is colored white and shades of red. Desirable for the flower border or cutting.

Early Call Rose is a beautiful, very early Morning Glory. It is large, colored deep red with white throat.

Two researchers in Connecticut report an interesting biological control of nematodes. Chemicals produced by the roots of marigolds will kill nematodes in the soil.

Three biological controls were introduced this year in Virginia.

A weevil was released in 12 counties infected with Musk and Carl Thistle. This is part of the research program under way to control these two pests.

In Ichneumonid is a parasite that attacks the larvae of the alfalfa weevil. 100 adults were released in Charlotte County in May.

In Pulaski County a Braconid was released. This parasite attacks the adult of the alfalfa weevil.

There are some startling and alarming trends in the timber-lands of Virginia and Appomattox County.

Of the 160,000 acres of wood-land in the county 116,000 is privately owned. For the past three years private landowners have planted 914 acres of pine per year. Look at this planting rate from a different point of view. We are planting 0.8 of 1% of the forest land annually. If this rate is continued it will take 126 years to plant the county.

In 1968 Appomattox was the fifth largest producer of pulpwood in Virginia. In 1968 the pulpwood cut was 48,556 units; in 1968 the cut was 61,607 units.

In dollar volume the increase has been even greater. These figures represent all forest products; however, pulpwood is the principal item.

In 1964 all forest products sold for $107,716. In 1968 the figure jumped to $310,847, nearly a three fold increase. Certainly this level of production cannot continue without a new approach at planting.

30% of the wood of this county is considered poorly stocked. Which is to say that the annual rate of growth is declining taxes on the land. There's another 50,000 acres that's considered non-productive.

When we consider that pulp usage is up 67% from 1957 to 1963, that the outwood cut is 15% more than growth, that the volume of pine has decreased 9% over the past 10 years, that one out of five workers is in a forest related industry and that 40% of all industry in the state is forest oriented, then it's time to re-evaluate some of our thinking.

Private landowners are more than capitalists; they are stewards of an important natural source.

Tobacco Market Delays Opening

Heavy snow, a Christmas on Thursday, and a general labor shortage has caused a week's delay in the Jan. 6 tobacco market opening in Lynchburg.

H. B. Wood, manager of the Farmers' Market, said the market won't open until Jan. 13 because it will be impossible for the tobacco to be prepared before then.

Wood said that a general labor shortage has existed and that the Christmas falling on a Thursday most of the workers decided to take a long weekend. The clincher for many of them, who come from the South Boston and Halifax area, was the white Christmas which dumped more than a foot of snow on streets and highways. Wood said the workers are paid by the hour.

Old Santa brought toys and treats to boys and girls Christmas Day and the weatherman obliged with a 12.7 inch snowfall beginning in mid-afternoon which in turn gave the Allen boys, Tony, Herbert, Jr., and Tibbie, almost all the snow they could want or use for a big snow wall that looks like the beginning of a giant snowman. For others in the county it was a time to hunt up chains, check the snow tires and proceed with caution on holiday visits.

Outlines Big Changes In Agriculture

Amazing changes in American agriculture were cited today by J. P. Alvis, Jr., Chairman of the Appomattox County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee as "believe-it-or-not" facts of the last two decades.

"We've seen more change in 20 years than we had in the 80 years before that," he said.

"Back in 1870 one farmer provided food and fiber for every five persons. It took sixty years for that ratio to double -- by 1930 one farmer was growing food and fiber for every 10 persons. By 1960, the ratio was one farmer to supply every 26 persons. Today one U.S. farmer provides food and fiber for about 45 persons," Mr. Alvis said.

This rapidly increasing efficiency, he said, means that Americans today pay only about 16 and a half percent of their disposable income for food-less than any people anywhere have ever paid. Disposable income is after-taxes income --the money people actually have for spending purposes.

Other changes cited include the drop in farm population--down to 10 million today from about 26 million in 1947. During the same period, farm consolidation has cut the number of farms in half -- from 6 million to 3 million. The land in farms, however, remained relatively unchanged -- about 1.1 billion acres.

"What it adds up to is a technological and economic revolution in American agriculture. I think more Americans need to realize that agriculture is not a static industry, but is actually one of the leaders in our technological progress," Mr. Alvis said.

Rebuilding To Begin For Bridges-Road

Richmond -- The first permanent construction projects in the rebuilding of bridges and roads that were destroyed by the August flood caused by Hurricane Camille have been advertised for construction bids by the Department of Highways. Bids will be received Jan. 21 in Richmond.

Major bridges across the James River at Howardsville and Columbia, and across the Rockfish River at Howardsville and Rockfish are included in projects that are being financed with federal emergency relief funds.

Construction and spot improvements along almost 15 miles of VA 56 in the Massies Mill, Tyro and Nash area are included among the 14 emergency construction projects that have been added to regular projects for the Jan. letting.

Six of the projects are in Nelson County; three in Fluvanna; two each in Rockingham and Louisa, and one in Amherst. The major structures are to be completed by Jan. of 1971.

Except for the larger river crossings, most of the roads and water crossings were reopened to traffic within weeks following the flood by erecting temporary bridges or culverts and filling in roads with dirt to make them passable.

Among the regular projects being advertised is a section of Arterial 29 in Nelson County to continue construction south of the Lovingston bypass. The newly constructed bypass was used for landing helicopters and light aircraft and was headquarters for the flood rescue operations.
